Author Visits, Presentations, and Workshops For Schools & Children's/YA Library Programs

ABOUT ME

I love talking to students and other writers, not only to share what I know, but to learn from them as well. I'm currently on faculty at the Lighthouse Writers Workshop and the Regis University MFA in Creative Writing Program (YA Mentor). I've done many presentations and writing workshops with children and teens.

- B.A., Film and Television, UCLA
- Ed.M., Harvard University
- Award-winning author of books from toddler to teen—see more on my site.

SCHOOL AND LIBRARY VISITS

I offer a variety of school and library presentations and can easily adapt existing sessions to your needs, from preschool – high school.

I also offer writing and revising workshops for students during school or as part of an after-school program. I can adapt my programs to the needs of your students.
